

My target journal's reviewer has asked for major changes. I disagree. What do I do now?

Author

Akemi Takahashi

Post Url

<https://www.enago.com/academy/q/13537/my-target-journals-reviewer-has-asked-for-major-changes-i-disagree-what-do-i-do-now/>

I submitted my manuscript to a journal recently. Last week, I received a comment from a reviewer asking for major changes in my manuscript. I do not agree with the reviewer and do not intend to make the changes (because the changes will alter the meaning). What should I do now?

Cite this article

Akemi Takahashi, My target journal's reviewer has asked for major changes. I disagree. What do I do now?. Enago Academy. 2018/03/05. <https://www.enago.com/academy/q/13537/my-target-journals-reviewer-has-asked-for-major-changes-i-disagree-what-do-i-do-now/>